Dear Jan
So sorry for being unable to meet you earlier.
However,I'm back in NY October 11-16
And in Los Angeles October 17-22.
Can we meet on one of those dates ?
Looking forward to your response.
Best
Ehud Barak

In addition to, and as part of my Senior Client Partnership with Korn Ferry, I have also built up a trusted relationship with one of the largest Family-owned companies for a period of over 20 years. For this client I conduct executive search for senior executive, non-executive and board member positions and also provide advice to the Family and its individual members when asked for input both at the request of the Family as well as on my own initiative.

My work brings me on four continents in the fields of financial services, retail, real estate and private equity. In addition, I am also involved in significant philanthropic activities in the non-for-profit arena as well as the Impact Investing industry.
Based on the long-term partnership approach through which I work, I usually also provide advice, normally related to the broadest sense of the term concerning strategic, tactical and related matters relevant to a company's human capital objectives and organizational and leadership development.
More specifically, I advise with regards to:

- Coaching, counselling and career development support;
- Succession planning strategies as part of corporate governance model and succession planning and multi-generational structures; anchoring own talent (current and upcoming leaders);
- Acting as equal sparring partner to the senior management members (executive and non-executive);
- Compensation related analysis (market insights) and respective premeditated input;
- On boarding paths/programs.

Based on my experience and developed relationships, I find myself in the position to act as a trusted coach and development advisor for senior management.
As I work within the setting of a large international footprint I approach clients and their issues with an international mind-set and cross-cultural sensitivity. The understanding of the different international dynamics is of utmost importance for me, which has resulted in the ability to correctly evaluating the sensitivities and the unique aspects associated with my position.

Mr. Barak, I sincerely look forward to having the possibility to meet with you in New York in the week commencing 14 September. Alternatively, I am more than happy to come to Tel Aviv on short notice if you deem that applicable.
Sincerely yours,

Jan Vet

EHUD BARAK

Ehud Barak is an internationally renowned leader and statesman who has most recently served as Defense Minister of Israel (2007-2013). Several months ago he announced his retirement from politics after nearly two decades in the top ranks of the Israeli government, including terms as Israel's 10th Prime Minister, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Minister of the Interior. His political activities were preceded by an illustrious 36-year military career that culminated in his appointment as Chief of General Staff of the Israel Defense Forces. During a hiatus from public life (2001-2007), Barak acted as a consultant and strategic adviser for prestigious private equity and hedge funds, as well as consulting on security-related issues and earning accolades on the international lecture circuit. An acknowledged expert in the fields of security and the management of complex large-scale systems, Barak is recognized for his exceptional analytical skills and his eminently pragmatic yet original approach to strategic planning and problem-solving. His wide-ranging experience, educational background and unsurpassed acquaintance with world and national leaders in diplomacy, politics, business and academia combine to give him a distinct qualitative edge in the macro-analysis of world trends in economics, security and political developments.

EXPERIENCE

Defense Minister of Israel (June 2007 –

March 2013)

- Revitalized and upgraded the IDF after the 2006 Second Lebanon War
- Led the R&D efforts and operational deployment of Iron Dome and the rest of the Israeli Missile Defense System
- Reshaped the strategy and force structure of the Israeli defense establishment

? Brought the Israel-U.S. defense and intelligence relationship to unprecedented closeness and cooperation

? Contributed significantly to raising world awareness of the urgent nature of the Iranian nuclear challenge and the ways to tackle it

Prime Minister of Israel (1999-2001)

? Led

Israel out of a prolonged recession into an economic boom, with a 5.9% annual growth rate and a peak of 9.1% in Q3 2000, record foreign investments, near-zero inflation, a halved deficit and significantly reduced debt to GDP ratio

Fulfilled his campaign promise of withdrawing Israeli troops from South Lebanon after the IDF's presence there for 18 contentious years

Conducted far-reaching peace negotiations with both Syria and the Palestinian Authority, which regrettably ended without the breakthroughs necessary to reach final agreements

During this period, Barak served simultaneously as Israel's Defense Minister

Minister of the Interior (1995) under Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin

Minister of Foreign Affairs (1995-96) under Prime Minister Shimon Peres after Rabin's assassination in November 1995

MILITARY CAREER

- 36 years of service, ending as IDF Chief of Staff
- The

most decorated soldier in the history of the IDF, Barak masterminded and led some of Israel's most daring commando operations

Commander of Special Forces, Tank and Armored units from battalion to division level

Served as a Field Commander in the Six-Day War

(June 1967), War of Attrition (1970-73), Yom Kippur War (October 1973), First Lebanon War (June 1982)

Filled other top positions, including Head of Planning (J5), Head of Military Intelligence (J2), Commander of the Central Command and Deputy Chief of General Staff

Chief of General

Staff, Israel Defense Forces (1991-1995)

- Implemented the first Oslo Accords between Israel and the Palestinian Authority
- Played a major role in the negotiations leading to Israel's 1994 peace treaty with Jordan

Commander of Sayeret Matkal, Israel's elite commando unit

- Led dozens of

still secret operations, as well as several legendary commando raids, including one in Israel in 1972 when, disguised as airport mechanics, he and his team freed the hostages from a hijacked Sabena airliner, and another in Beirut in 1973 when he disguised himself as a woman and led a series of strikes on PLO terrorist leaders ? Was a key architect of the rescue of hostages aboard an Air France jet hijacked by a group of Palestinian and German terrorists to Entebbe Airport in Uganda in 1976

EDUCATION

1968 – B.Sc. degree in

Physics and Mathematics, Hebrew University of Jerusalem
1979 – M.Sc. degree in Engineering Economic Systems, Stanford University, California
